General Prince Nicholas Dolgorouki, whose death has just taken place at St. Petersburg, was not a brother, as asserted in his oblivaries, but a coustn of Princess Yourieffska, the morgantic widow of Czar Alexander II. He was during the reign of old Emperor Wil-liam attached to the latter's suite by Czar Alexander II., and as such was the channel of so many communica-tions between the two monarchs, that Bismarck, as Chancellor, protested, complaining that Prince Dolgorouki interfered in the relations between the two countries, and in 1886 secured his recall from Berlin. Afterwards he was sent as minister to Persia, where he was downed, in a diplomatic sense, by Sir Henry Drum-mond Wolff, the English envoy, and by the latter's first secretary Arthur Nicholson, now permanent Un-der Secretary of State for Foreign Atfairs in London. Three years ago Emperor Nicholas appointed him as his ambassador at Rome, where the prince, however, was not a success, being ex-termely supercillous, and conveying an impression to the men with whom he was brought into contact, that he regarded them as imbeelle, which of course, not calculated to conciliate
